FOR NOTICE PUT OVER BEST OF HIS BREED

Brian Footprint Wins Title Among Hackney Mares and Dictator Leads Ponies.

NOTED STALLION DEAD

W. H. Moore Loses Marlboro—Bohemian Actress Scores First Time Out.

By GURNEY C. GEE.

With fifteen classes for hackneys on the program and the American Hackney Horse Society holding its annual meeting during the midday intermission, the breed and its breeders had a field day at the National Horse Show in Squadron A Armory yesterday. Just before the meeting, Reginald C. Vanderbilt, president of the society, saw his seven-year-old stallion Fortitude win two blue ribbons from the best horses of his breed and sex in the show. Just after the meeting Mr. Vanderbilt gave a luncheon in the tearoom of the rhino Mount Vernon mansion house to about fifty members of the organization.

An incident of interest in connection with the breeders' meeting was the election of William H. Vanderbilt, son of the late Alfred G. Vanderbilt, to life membership in the society of which his uncle has been for more than a decade the executive head. Mrs. Lucy Work Hewitt, Mrs. Francis P. Garvan and Mrs. K. Dering of Chicago were among the other life members elected.

Another incident of note at the meeting was the launching of a movement to encourage the use of hackneys for saddle horses and ponies. It is well known that the ancient British breed were originally riding horses, and A. J. Cassatt, the first president of the society who rode a variety of both hackneys and ponies, once wrote as his opinion that no other mount equaled the hackney for a timid rider, an old man or a young one. He said that the hackney was the best horse for carriage purposes, the breeders purpose to exploit the breed under saddle, and to this end the members of the society had agreed to give $500 in five minutes to purchase suitable prizes for such competitors at next season's shows. Besides this George C. Haas of Mount Kisco announced that he would give a trophy costing $100 for registered hackneys to compete under saddle at the next national horse show. Mr. Haas made the statement, which was confirmed by other members present, that every blue ribbon of the week thus far in the open classes for saddle ponies had been won by a hackney.

Mr. Vanderbilt Re-elected.

In the election of officers for the coming year Mr. Vanderbilt was chosen president. William H. Wanamaker, Jr., second vice-president, and as directors Dr. Thomas G. Ashton of Philadelphia, W. A. Atkinson of New York, J. H. Blue of Springfield, Ohio; Charles E. Cox of Philadelphia, J. K. Dering of Chicago, Paul Moore of Kent, N. J., Fred Pabst of Oconomowoc, Wis., Lawrence Smith of Springfield, Branch, I. T. and J. Macy Willets of New Marlboro, Mass.

While R. Penn Smith and Charles E. Dering were awarding prizes for hackney breeding stock and young things at the morning exhibition, many horsemen heard for the first time that Judge William H. Moore had lost by death, his noted hackney stallion Marlboro, sire of nearly every harness horse he has shown in the last five or six years, and of many winners in other hands at this year's Horse Show. Mr. Vanderbilt's champion stallion Fortitude among the rest. Marlboro was easily the most successful living sire of the breed, and his name was on the list of stallions offered for $25,000 for him, made by Capt. Bertram W. Mills of England, under Judge Moore had swept the harness classes at Madison Square Garden, with titles by the great sire of Mathias. It was said at the Armory that Seaton Saxon, a slashing bay stallion, which was placed second to Fortitude in one of the classes, had been selected to succeed his dead sire in Judge Moore's Stallion Hackney Stud at Morristown. The championship prize for hackney horses was won by the champion mare, Brian Footprint, a little black daughter of Marlboro that won the novice class for harness horses on the opening day.

In the classes for hackney ponies, the champion was a two-year-old colt owned by R. M. Carpenter of Dilwney Farm, Monticello, Del., scored a remarkable victory by winning the championship for stallions from his own sire, Irvington Autocrat, an eight-year-old pony that had himself won the championship at the National a year or two ago. J. Macy Willets, of New Marlboro, was crowned by the reflection that only a great sire could get a two-year-old colt good enough to take the measure of an eight-year-old champion. Mr. Willets' noted pony Irvington Bounce III, won the championship for pony mares. Mr. Wanamaker imported mare Kitty Melbourne getting the reserve ribbon.

Bohemian Actress Wins.
Bohemian Actress, the champion hackney mare of last year's Horse Show and unbeaten as yet this season, came out of her handlers early in the afternoon, taking her first appearance for the week. Quinn Davis of Kentucky, who has ridden her in all her ring contests, was in the saddle and she put up a show which smothered opposition. A good many critics are beginning to call her the best specimen of the American saddle bred mare that has been seen in the show. Her owner, John P. Crozer of England, said she would be shown in only two more classes this week. One will be the $2500 sweepstakes to be judged to-night and the other will be the championship on Saturday evening.

Submersible, the seven-year-old thoroughbred, owned and ridden by Major A. J. Barry of the Cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas, scored his second victory of the week in the contest for officers' charges. On Monday morning he won the cup presented by Pierre Lorrillard, Jr., for the best lightweight charger. Yesterday afternoon he came back and defeated a fine field in the class for the officers' charges.

McBurrey Eleven Wins.
McBurrey School eleven outplayed Columbia Grammar in an interschool rain yesterday afternoon on the latter's field, winning 20 to 0. Noel, Marvin, Cameron, Abner and Ashley starred for the victors. Noel tallied the first touchdown in the second period on a dash of forty-two yards through center and scored again on a line plunge. Marvin picked up a fumble on the last 40 yards line and ran sixty yards for the final touchdown in the fourth period.

On Way to Another Championship
